St. Luke's Sponsors Cancer Survivors Night

Boise – Inspiration, support and tools cancer survivors can use will be the focus of the second annual St. Luke's Survivors Night on Thursday, Sept. 9.

The free event, sponsored by St. Luke's Mountain States Tumor Institute (MSTI), will be held from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at St. Luke's Boise Medical Center in the Anderson Center.

The event is open to cancer patients, caregivers and cancer survivors.

A full slate of presenters is scheduled with a free dinner provided by Pfizer Pharmaceuticals.

Advance registration is required. Visit www.stlukesonline.org and click on "classes and events" for Boise/Meridian under the topic "cancer related" or contact Call St. Luke's at 381-9000.

Presentations during the event include information on the proper nutrition and physical activity for cancer survivors by Rhone Levin, an oncology dietitian at St. Luke's MSTI.

Jerrimi Helmick, a radiation nurse practitioner and Caryn Thompson, from Boise's Ozone will present a discussion on sexual health.

Levine and Thompson will also join a multi-disciplinary panel discussion on survivorship that will also feature oncologist Dr. Dan Zuckerman; oncology social worker Delisa Rapp; and integrative medical professional and holistic nurse Kamron Keep.

Founded in 1969, St. Luke's Mountain States Tumor Institute has treated nearly 60,000 patients and has become one of the Northwest's most respected cancer care centers providing the region's most advanced cancer care therapies with the added benefit of allowing most patients to remain close to home.
